“Being able to help someone accomplish their goals in life is what I’ve always wanted to do.”

JEM Management

Founder & Chief Executive Officer

Janet Middlemiss

Janet originally came up with the idea for JEM in 2001 during a trip to Africa and whilst researching a book chronicling the stories of people who have made their mark in truly diverse areas of life.

From then on, she decided that all her efforts would focus on one objective – to make a positive difference in the world by helping talented people explore their potential and develop their passions.

Today, Janet is responsible for driving the vision of JEM, and spends most of her time overseeing the day-to-day operations of the organization which includes constantly brainstorming new campaign ideas and programmes.

She takes great pleasure in actively supporting a host of philanthropy-related initiatives from working with children with special needs, to raising funds to improve educational and skill development opportunities for underprivileged individuals and impoverished communities.

In addition, Janet also enjoys travelling, horse-riding, music and the arts, plus learning about the world and the myriad of cultures, lifestyles, experiences and ideas that different people have to offer.
